INSTRUCTIONS

This is a take home, exam essay, for which you will have four days to prepare and submit. Submission will be on or by 23.59, 5th November.

This assessment takes the form of a detailed conference proposal, containing an extended conference concept or abstract, with an indicative list of contributions in the form of authors and papers (which should include some real anthropological and development studies authors/papers, but may also include fictional paper titles and authors). The conference proposal should engage with a specific debate from one of the five Shifts & Turns seminars addressed during the course.

Total word count should be around 2500 words (+/- 250 words).
