Please note that all exam answers will be submitted through the Turnitin similarity index to establish if there is a similarity. As this is an open book exam, you are required to use the UJ Harvard referencing style for all your assessments. A useful version of this referencing style guide is available from the University of Johannesburg website.

Please carefully read the following instructions

Note: Students are required to demonstrate their own thinking and understanding and not to merely repeat what was on the PowerPoints shown in class.

Leadership agility and adaptability have become skills that are required among leaders to win sustainably in the 'never normal world'. According to various writers, leaders need to make continuous changes in their businesses. In other words, fluidity and speed are imperative in decision making and execution.

You are required to submit an integrative leadership proposal to guide today and tomorrow's leaders of small and medium-sized businesses on how to lead with relevance in this 'never normal world'.

Your proposal should prompt its readers to deeply question their dominant leadership mindset and practices and urge them to explore your advice.

Please apply everything you have learned during the "Leadership in the Growing Business" module.
